

Message from the President

Jacques Himpens
President of IFSO

Dear Members of IFSO,

Every year the end of summer in the northern hemisphere coincides with the world congress of IFSO. All of you who attended this year's edition will agree that the London congress was a special one. The city was in great shape, the weather was awesome, the organization flawless, the quality of the scientific talks exquisite.

One day during the congress stood out. Let me bring you back to September first. That morning the London Great Hall was packed, filled with surgeons, allied health professionals and families, getting ready to listen to the Scopinaro lecture.

This time the speaker was not a surgeon or a doctor, but a lean and supple octogenarian explorer, who for over a half hour captured the audience's undivided attention by the most eloquent and captivating narration of his unique and adventurous life. Sir Ranulph Fiennes, "the World's Greatest Living Explorer" with a typically English "tongue in cheek" humour left everyone in awe for so much courage, perseverance and abnegation. His message was not to be misunderstood: a strong will beats all. A deafening standing ovation followed as sir Fiennes left the stage.

Then came the president, Kelvin Higa. Of course, everybody in the Great Hall already knew him, everybody had heard him talk at conventions, perhaps watched him operate with a skill few people possess. But nobody had any idea to what extent Kelvin could enthuse an audience, move men and women alike by his orator's talent. He gave tribute in the most delicate terms to his nearest relatives who helped him develop his unequalled career.

He enumerated some of the achievements he managed to obtain during his presidency with his "informal authority" as Ronald Heifetz calls it. As climax of his talk he finally explained crystal clear what the vision and mission of IFSO are. Finally, he rewarded with a medal the key opinion leaders and pioneers in the field of metabolic surgery.

Again, a standing ovation resounded in the Great Hall. I can hardly describe the emotion I felt when I was called to the stage to take the presidential oath.

Message from the President

Now, some 4 weeks later, let us not lose the momentum initiated by Kelvin. Under my presidency we must continue his work keeping in mind IFSO's mission:

"TO UNIFY THE GLOBAL SCIENTIFIC, SURGICAL AND INTEGRATED HEALTH COMMUNITIES, FOR THE PURPOSE OF DISSEMINATION OF KNOWLEDGE, COLLABORATION AND ESTABLISHING UNIVERSAL STANDARDS OF CARE FOR THE TREATMENT OF INDIVIDUALS WITH ADIPOSITY-BASED CHRONIC DISEASE".

This is not a simple goal. Recently IFSO has grown to become a giant society. While bigger societies unquestionably have a greater impact, the larger the associations, the more division and feuds invariably loom. Differences in language, ethnicity, religion, local customs, surgical history, feelings of national identity constitute an ideal breeding ground for dispute. But while incidental fights are unavoidable, IFSO cannot afford to present an image of division. Division makes weak. Division strengthens the opposition. Social media at the speed of light shamelessly and unpunished diffuse worldwide alleged truths about surgery against adiposity. Rumors circulate on the Internet that even today more than 1% of patients die after gastric bypass. Such calumnies can only be addressed by a unified, powerful organization, presenting actual facts, sharing true data.

Therefore, my call today is that you, members of IFSO, make the effort to collect and publish your data and outcomes. While I very well realize that elaborating a registry is hard work and costs money, I truly believe that sharing our data would give the clear message to the world that the society of bariatric/metabolic surgeons stands united and that what we do is transparent. As a group, let us publish the results of our work. "To unify and to disseminate" I believe is indeed the major part of our mission.

This last May has seen the first IFSO-EC Symposium that took place in Naples/Italy under the Presidency of Prof. Luigi Angrisani, together with the 2nd Mediterranean Obesity Surgery Summit and the Bariatric and Metabolic Live Surgery Symposium. T he symposium included one full one day of life surgical procedures performed by international renowned experts, and one and a half day of plenary sessions, paper sessions, video sessions, as well as posters. One session was organized under the auspices of World IFSO and included presentations of 6 top European scientific research papers published recently.

Another session, jointly organized by IFSO-EC and EASO, was dedicated to the management of insufficient weight loss and weight regain after bariatric surgery.

The symposium was attended by close to 300 participants, a success for a first time, and was the opportunity for learning and exchange for all attendees. The symposium was also well supported by the industry.

On behalf of IFSO-EC Executive Board, I thank all organizers for their hard work, as well as the industry for their support, without which this symposium would not have been possible.

IFSO-EC also participated in this year's annual European Congress of Obesity organized by EASO, in Porto/Portugal, where the same common session was successfully repeated.

IFSO-EC's Multinational advisory group (MNAG) has now met twice, and decided to do a survey among Society members of the Chapter, as well as individual members, about their activities, but also about their needs and wishes, so that the Chapter can offer appropriate help where it is most needed. This survey is currently under progress (until October 6th).

IFSO-EC's next biennial congress will take place in Athens May 17-19th 2018. The local organizing committee, our executive Board as well as IFSO-EC's Scientific committee are currently working on the program.

Submission of abstracts will start this fall. Click here for more info.

Athens in May is very nice, but not too hot and without too many tourists. Apart from a fabulous scientific program, Athens and Greece should be other good reasons to attend IFSO-EC congress next May. As in 2017, one or two joint IFSO-EASO sessions will take place and focus on multi-disciplinarity in the management of obesity. As in 2017, a joint IFSO-EC-EASO session will take place during the European Congress of Obesity which EASO organizes this year in May in Vienna the week after Athens. These sessions will provide opportunities for exchange not only between specialized surgeons, but also from an interdisciplinary point of view.

-EC Congress

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

I am excited and honored to officially invite you to Athens-Greece and the 8th Congress of the International Federation for the Surgery of Obesity and Metabolic Disorders – European Chapter (IFSO-EC), which will be held in May 17-19, 2018.

The Local Organizing Committee together with IFSO-EC's Executive Board and Scientific Committee are putting all their effort into creating an attractive scientific programme that will benefit all professionals visiting our congress from across the world. Our main goal is to provide a platform where established knowledge could be shared and new ideas openly approached.

With a wide range of experts (surgeons, endocrinologists, internists, dieticians, phycologists and many more) active in the field of bariatric and metabolic surgery, we aim to create an opportunity that will bring to every participant unforgettable professional as well as personal experience.

Athens, a vibrant & modern European capital, situated at the foothills of the Acropolis and next to the sea, is a perfect location for international congresses & conventions. Easily accessible from every part of the world, it is considered to be one of the safest cities, providing abundant modern hotel accommodation and great opportunities for sightseeing, excursions and technical visits. Greece has always been at the crossroads of civilizations. This has left not only a rich inheritance of monuments and artifacts of unparalleled beauty, but also the capacity to understand and appreciate the value of this country.

Having a unique natural environment, surrounded by the "deep blue" Aegean Sea, it presents perfect conditions for recreation. May is probably the best season to visit Greece.

We envision a robust participation to a Congress of high standards that will provide a memorable occasion for scientific and cultural interface in what has been better known as the traditional "Greek Hospitality". We are inviting you to experience "Breathtaking Athens" and ensure you that the 8th IFSO-EC Meeting, will leave its mark in IFSO history.

Dear colleagues, Dear friends,

As the current president of the IFSO-EC, it is my privilege and honour to invite you all to the next bi-annual IFSO-EC congress in Athens / Greece, May 17-19, 2018, under the local presidency of Prof Harris Pappis.

The local organizing committee, together with IFSO-EC's Executive Board and Scientific Committee, is working hard to put up exciting and interesting, but also interactive sessions where the latest developments in bariatric and metabolic surgery will be discussed, and more conventional knowledge will be deepened, but also challenged.

IFSO-EC 2018 should be a congress where every European active in the bariatric field should be presenting their latest research. This meeting will bring together most European leaders and experts in the field and will bring the opportunity for social networking, exchange and friendship.

Athens, a fascinating city that was already the heart of the antique Greek civilisation, with unique historical sites to visit, is also a good starting point for a pre-or post-congress tour across the country. And last but not least, Greek cuisine is reknown as tasty and particularly healthy.

Come and join us in Athens in May 2018!

Ricardo Cohen
President of Latin
American Chapter

On behalf of the Board of the Latin American Chapter of IFSO, and in my duty of Executive Director of IFSO LAC during the last 5 years it is my pleasure to report to you what were our Chapter's main achievements, in the last 6 months, from April 2017 to September 2017. This is the first IFSO LAC REPORT since the beginning of Dr. Cohen's term on April 28th. 2017:

- 1) We have had 14 communications with our member societies, as e-mail communications and of course through our Whatsapp CHAT IFSO LAC, it has been effective as always. New Presidents from our Member societies have already started their respective terms. Caetano Marchesini from Brasil, Salvador Navarrete from Venezuela, Ramiro Carbajal from Perú, Héctor Herrera from Paraguay, Ricardo Funke from Chile, Ricardo Peña from Honduras and Enrique Arias from El Salvador. During these months of transition we kept the past Presidents in our chat to achieve a better follow-up.
- 2) From April 26th. to 29th. 2017 we had our last IFSO LAC Congress, in the beautiful city of Santa Cruz de la Sierra, Bolivia. More than 35 International Speakers, several Pre and Transcongress courses were developed, Dr. Sergio Aparicio FACS FASMBS and his team did a great job.

This is the Slide presented in our VII IFSO LAC CONGRESS.

Uruguay was present, but actually they are not members of IFSO yet, so they are not considered as part of IFSO LAC.

Latin American Chapter Report

During this IFSO LAC General Assembly Dr. Ricardo Cohen from Brasil, received the Presidency of IFSO LAC from Dr. Juan Antonio López-Corvalá from México during a friendly and comfortable session. I had the privilege of being the Executive Director of IFSO LAC in the last 5 years, Ricardo Cohen is the 3rd President that I have the privilege to work with.

Latin American Chapter Report

I have observed the growth of our Chapter in this last 5 years, since Dr. Zundel received it in Cuzco, Perú in 2013. Natan revived it, and during the IFSO LAC Congress in Los Cabos, Mexico in 2015, 15 country Member Societies accepted to be present and to participate actively in all the activities of our Chapter. Each country had the opportunity to organize a National meeting (Intermediary Congress) with the participation in the academic and social program of all the Presidents of the member societies. Our membership grew.

Dr. López-Corvalá received the Presidency in Los Cabos, Mexico, and during his period we have had the opportunity to continue working for our chapter, he developed a blog in our web site, it was his baby. In this blog, all the Chapter members were actively participating and interacting, discussing cases with the leaders of Bariatric and Metabolic Surgery. Dr. López-Corvalá did a great job.

Now Mr. President, it is your turn, you are one of the leaders in Bariatric and Metabolic Surgery of the world, and it is my privilege to work with you. I know that together with all of our country Member Societies we can make our Chapter bigger, we are a reality in the IFSO WORLD. In this last General Assembly of IFSO LAC in Bolivia I have had the privilege to be elected as the IFSO LAC President from 2019-2021, after Dr. Cohen's period. It is an honor for me to continue working for Latin America, Thank you to all the member societies for their unconditional support and their credibility to me. We will have the VIII IFSO LAC Congress in Buenos Aires Argentina, on April 2019. Next IFSO LAC Intermediary Congress in Quito Ecuador on April 2018.

During the VII IFSO LAC Congress Dr. Arthur Garrido from Brasil, was honored for being one of the fathers of the Bariatric and Metabolic Surgery in Latin America, and founder of IFSO and IFSO LAC.

Last but not least, few days ago, the 22nd WORLD CONGRESS, IFSO2017 took place in London, at the QEII Centre, August 28th. to Sept. 2nd.

It was a great meeting, the Faculty, the facilities, the rooms, the courses, the symposia, the lectures, the Presidential Address. All the Metabolic/Bariatric science happening in London made this event outstanding. Latin America was very well represented, as you know Mr. President we have had our IFSO LAC SYMPOSIUM on August 31st. 2017.

Gala Dinner

Dr. Cohen received an award during the Gala Dinner, London Sept. 2017

- 5) IFSO LAC as a Chapter did not have a General Assembly during the World Congress of IFSO in London, because there were only 8 Country Member Societies of the Chapter, the costs for Latin America to go to Europe are expensive, and we do not have the support from the companies. That is the main reason why only the 50% of our member societies were represented. During our last IFSO LAC Congress in Bolivia, we discussed on the ways IFSO can help us in this matter.
- 6) Well Mr. President, this is all what have happened in the last 6 months of work here in IFSO LAC. Thank you for your attention.

Sincerely yours,

India (OSSI)

The IFSO-APC 2017 Conference took place in Goa at the end of April. This year's event was held in conjunction with OSSICON, the Indian Society's annual conference. At the end of the event, Dr. Lilian Kow, IFSO-APC President from 2015-2017 passed on the Chapter's Presidency to Dr. Muffazal Lakdawala.

Here are extracts of a report of the event by Dr. Jayashree Todkar, the conference's Organizing Secretary:

"We would like to thank you from the core of our hearts for being a part of the IFSO APC 2017 and for your endorsement. It was an honor for us to host you. It was a great experience and knowledge gain to hear your thoughts and great insights in the scientific sessions. You were an inspiration for us all...

We successfully gave exposure and platform for new talent and skills to come up and rub shoulders with the greats. The scientific committee had a tough time choosing top 10 abstracts as they were overwhelmed with the huge number of quality entries submitted (to give it a number, it crossed 200). We had more than 150 speakers and experts and a total of more than 530 participants...

For the first time, we produced a white paper and submitted it, during inauguration, to the government dignitaries and we received a great positive response from their side ensuring to take it ahead in terms of providing accessible and affordable treatment and prevention to all from the first to the last rung of the society...

Three highly informative books were released written by Dr Chittaranjan Pullattrana, Dr Praveen Raj and Dr Jayashree Toddkar.

25 organizations, from 18 countries, participated.

We concluded on good notes. We are happy to know that we could meet the expectations of everyone who participated, satisfactorily".

Participants to the congress will enjoy a superb scientific programme focusing on the widest array of topics in the field of adiposity based chronic diseases, through postgraduate courses, symposia, expert talks and video of pre-recorded operations.

The aim of the Congress is to educate but just as well to unite across country borders health care professionals from different specialisms, in their fight against the adiposity epidemic.

I believe that all ingredients are present to make from the 2018 IFSO World Congress an enjoyable, fruitful and unforgettable experience.

I look forward to meeting you there!

Scott Shikora
Editor-in-Chief of Obesity Surgery

Obesity Surgery had another excellent year. There have been very few issues with the editorial board, the manuscripts submitted, or the authors.

Manuscript Submissions

Manuscript submission remains very high and continues to increase yearly. In 2016, over 900 manuscripts were submitted. As of 1 July, we received 587 manuscripts. Therefore, we expect to receive an estimated 1007 manuscripts by the close of the year. Despite the large number of manuscripts submitted, reviewed and ultimately determined whether to be accepted or rejected, the editorial board worked hard and efficiently to process these papers in a timely fashion. The average time from manuscript submission to acceptance dropped from over 100 days in 2013, 2014, 2015, and 2016 to a remarkable 68 days in 2017.

An increased number of submitted manuscripts enable the journal to be more selective with which article to accept for publication. We know accept about 40% of articles submitted. Greater paper selectivity improves the overall quality of the journal.

Other noteworthy achievements:

1. The average number of monthly full text downloads increased from 35,539 per month in 2016 to 43,628 in 2017.
2. The Impact Factor for 2016 increased from 3.346 in 2015 to 3.947 in 2016. This is likely the highest Impact Factor for the journal in its history. Additionally, Obesity Surgery in now ranked 18 out of 196 English language surgical journals.
3. In 2016, total circulation was 11,277 subscriptions, down slightly from the 13,565 subscriptions in 2015.

Our official Journal : Obesity Surgery

Impactful IFSO Member Recognition

We continue to honor our leaders and impactful members of IFSO. The first article of each monthly issue gives a brief biography of the highlighted senior bariatric surgeon. This past year, we honored Kenneth Champion, Jan Willem Greve, George L. Blackburn, Romero Florin Galea, Rafael Capella, Arthur Garrido and Jaime Ponce. Jerome Dargent will be honored in our September issue.

Editorial Board

The Editorial Board was recently reviewed and renewed. We added over 30 new reviewers and several new editors. Additionally, Sue Cummings, a world-renowned dietician and Paul Davidson, a highly regarded bariatric psychologist were promoted to Associate Editors. Some reviewers and editors retired or were retired for poor effort. The goal is to continue to improve the timeliness and quality of the review process by evaluating the Editorial Board yearly and removing those who perform poorly and adding/promoting those that do timely and quality reviews.

Respectfully submitted,

Scott A. Shikora, MD, FACS

Integrated Health Committee

London meeting was a great success for Integrated Health attendees. We had numerous session options and they were well attended.

Mary O'Kane and I attended both the Executive Board meeting and the General Council meeting as Integrated Health representatives.

The EC is very committed to supporting the members of IH. Our outgoing president, Kelvin Higa, initiated more focus and support for Integrated Health as one of his many presidential goals. We are grateful.

The IH committee met at the London meeting. We are planning our first quarter strategic plan. Our focus will be:

- Reaching out to our members through on-line survey to learn how we can bring more value to our members.
- Education outreach through webinars and webpage links.
- Feasibility evaluation of international Certified Bariatric Nurse.
- Continue to add more committee members as opening occur so that we have a though discipline representation.
- Continue to enhance our Integrated Health webpage.

We look forward to a productive year. If you have any questions, suggestions or concerns please contact me at: TMartinezrn@lapbypass.com

Scientific Committee

The Scientific Committee of IFSO has been given the aim of providing our members and the broader community with information that is evidence based and up to date. With this aim in mind we have been very active over the past few months and were pleased to welcome new members to our Committee to help us fulfil this aim. These new members include Carel Le Roux, David Cummings, Rachel Batterham, Francesco Rubino and Ricardo Cohen. Along with our current members Alex Escalona, Jacques Himpens, Almino Ramos, Jeff Hamdorf, Michel Suter, Miguel Herrera, Moshe Rubin, Scott Shikora and Wei Jei Lee we have a really amazing committee that is well up to the tasks we have been set.

The content of the IFSO website is currently being reviewed and updated to ensure that the information that is provided to our site visitors is of the highest quality. Look for changes in the coming months!

The Scientific Committee is liaising closely with the Dubai Scientific Congress organizing committee. The scientific convenor Abdelrahman Nimeri has brought together a truly expert panel to assist with program design and delivery. We are sure it will be a meeting that you won't want to miss!

There is a need for position paper to help guide us when new procedures are being introduced to the Clinic. The Scientific Committee is now involved in developing these important documents, ensuring the evidence base is of the highest quality. We hope they will be helpful to our membership.

I am very grateful for the support of the Committee and also the IFSO Secretariat. I am honored to be a part of such an esteemed Committee and I look forward to finding as many ways as we can to support the good work our members are providing to our patients.

Young IFSO President

2017: an important year for Young IFSO

The year 2017 was very important for further development of Young IFSO.

First of all, Young IFSO was, for the fifth consecutive year, visibly present at 22nd IFSO World Congress in London in August/September 2017.

The Young IFSO Session was held on September 1st, 2017. The Session leads were Halin Eret Taskin, Sylvia Weiner, Aleksandr Neimark, Karin Dolezalova.

Distinguished invited speakers in this Session were Kamal Mahawar and Scott Shikora. Their lectures were greatly appreciated by the audience.

After that, Aleksandr Neimark, Matias Sosa, Karin Dolezalova, Dorota Radkowiak and Wah Yang delivered their talks, which were followed by lively discussion. The presenters who were from Russia, Argentina, the Czech Republic, Poland and China underlined the multinational scope of Young IFSO.

The scientific session continued with the second, most important part, thus the Young IFSO electoral meeting.

Before the Meeting Sylvia Weiner - Young IFSO President-elect announced that due to personal reasons she will not be able to hold the presidential duties in the upcoming two years.

Next structure was approved for 2018-2020:

President: Aleksandr Neimark

President-elect: voting will be next during IFSO-EC Congress in Athens.

Past-President: Karin Dolezalova

Representative to IFSO-EC: Karin Dolezalova

Treasurer : Halit Eren Taskin (till 2018)

The suggested names/positions were approved by voting of the Young IFSO General Assembly.

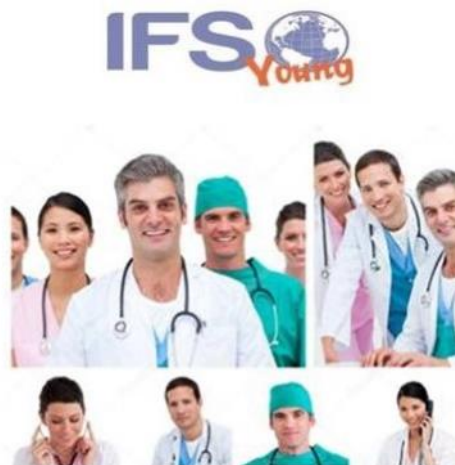

Committees' Report

Immediate plans of the Young IFSO are to take active and important part in preparations and work towards success of the IFSO EC Congress in Athens, in 2018 as well as of the World IFSO Congress in Dubai during the same year.

Young IFSO is proudly looking forward to the next quinquennium of its existence!

The structure of IFSO includes a section called 'Young IFSO' whose purpose is to integrate younger colleagues (under 45 years) - bariatric surgeons - by providing them access to the exchange of experience in scientific cooperation and making it possible for them to present their data in the form of oral presentation on IFSO's international congresses and also by providing them information on planned activities.

All this is possible thanks to the special conditions created by IFSO: preferential yearly membership fee – US$ 60, availability of dedicated scientific sessions at IFSO conferences, availability of social networking (Facebook Group).

We are inviting all interested young surgeons to join the ranks of Young IFSO. To do so please register by clicking here

3rd IFSO Global Registry Report

IFSO publishes Third IFSO Global Registry Report

At the recent XXII World Congress of the International Federation for the Surgery of Obesity and Metabolic Disorders (IFSO) in London, UK, we were delighted to launch the Third IFSO Global Registry Report (2017). Published by Dendrite Clinical Systems, under the auspices of the IFSO, the publication reports data from more than 40 countries on over 196,000 operations including baseline obesity-related disease, operation types, operative outcomes and disease status after bariatric surgery.

The report is the culmination of years of research and analyses from the IFSO Global Registry Project, which was established in January 2014 to demonstrate that it is possible to merge and analyse bariatric and metabolic surgical data from different countries and centres.

"We at IFSO are convinced that one of our prime tasks is to provide global guidelines for safe and effective surgery to the benefit of the patient with adiposity. Critical appraisal of what we do is essential to achieve this goal," said IFSO president, Jacques M Himpens. "More than ever we must share our data with the world. More than ever we must contribute to a global and complete registry."

This latest report includes 196,188 operation records from 42 countries from five continents, and has detailed information on 106,219 gastric bypass operations (54.1% of all the records submitted), 58,885 sleeve gastrectomy procedures (30.0%) and 19,101 gastric banding operations (9.7%).

The publication has some interesting county-to-country analysis and notes a wide variation of BMI pre-surgery between different contributor countries, ranging from 36.7kg m² in Peru to 51.1kgm² in Egypt (43.1 kgm²). The highest proportions of gastric bypass surgery were reported in Venezuela (100.0%) and Sweden (95.6%), compared with Kuwait (100.0%), Australia (100.0%) and Saudi Arabia (100.0%), who reported the highest rates of sleeve gastrectomy operations.

3rd IFSO Global Registry Report

Prior to surgery, 21.8% of patients were on medication for type 2 diabetes, 31.4% of patients were treated for hypertension, 15.3% of patients were on medication for depression, 20.2% of patients required treatment for musculo-skeletal pain, 20.3% of patients had sleep apnoea and 24.8% of patients had gastro-esophageal reflux disorder.

Following surgery, the report states that the average percentage weight loss was 30.1% and after primary surgery 62.4% of those taking medication for type 2 diabetes beforehand were no longer on medication one year after surgery. The proportion of patients no longer treated for diabetes was highly dependent on weight loss achieved. There were also significant reductions in the rates of treatment for depression, hypertension and musculo-skeletal pain, as well as a decline in rates of confirmed sleep apnoea and GERD one year after surgery.

"Bariatric/Metabolic Surgery is unlike any other surgical specialty. We look to the long-term effects and are not satisfied with one or two-year data; even 10 to 20-year data may not be enough to judge if our interventions today should be continued," said IFSO past-President, Dr Kelvin Higa. "If we had data from the past 30 years of surgery to analyse and integrate with our current concepts of the pathophysiology of our operations, I think we would be closer to answering many important questions such as What should be the criteria for surgery? How do I choose the right operation for the right patient? What are the long-term consequences of my intervention? Reporting data and participating in a registry such as IFSO Global Registry is indicative of the serious commitment to the long-term care of our patients and the advancement of the universal standards by which we practice."

"Together with IFSO, we were delighted to publish this third report at the XXII World Congress in London, UK," said Dr Peter Walton, Managing Director of Dendrite Clinical Systems. "I would also like to encourage metabolic and bariatric surgeons from around the world to contribute their data to the next report to be published at the XXIII IFSO World Congress in Dubai."
